FURIOUS Rosie O'Donnell has a message for her ex-wife Kelli Carpenter's new spouse: They're MY kids!

Insiders say the former talk-show host thinks Anne Steele – the woman Kelli married on June 1 in the backyard of their shared Rockland County, N.Y., home – is trying to steal away the affection of Rosie and Kelli's four kids.

Now the tug-of-war over the tykes has apparently escalated into an all-out feud – at least in Rosie's mind.

“ROSIE'S NOSE IS DEFINITELY OUT of joint over how instantly her children with Kelli have taken to their new stepmom,” said a family friend. “They seem to enjoy hanging out with them a lot more than with Ro and her wife Michelle (Rounds). That's because they find Kelli and Anne to be more fun.”

Even though Rosie can offer the kids more in the way of material possessions – she's worth an estimated $100 million – it doesn't seem to matter to the children, says the friend. They prefer spending their time with Kelli and Anne, a singer, at their home in Chestnut Ridge, just a 10-minute drive from Rosie's place in nearby South Nyack.

While Rosie is jealous over the fact that the kids – sons Parker, 18, and Blake, 13, and daughters Chelsea, 15, and Vivi, 10 – prefer to hang out with Kelli and Anne, the reality is that she and Michelle are busy tending to the needs of their new daughter, 5-month-old Dakota.

Adding fuel to the fire is a comment Anne made in a “New York Times” interview in which she said that Rosie's kids have become her instant family.

“That remark really hit a nerve with Rosie,” said the friend.

According to another source, Rosie and Michelle skipped the nuptials, and she wasn't thrilled that the kids were slated to take part in the ceremony.

“In the end, Rosie relented when Kelli requested that their boys play key roles as members of the wedding party,” the source continued. “Parker escorted his

J.LO'S RAUNCHY ACT SLAMMED BY HER MOM

In a fiery confrontation, sources say Jennifer Lopez's deeply religious mother read her the riot act for behaving like an “oversexed teenager” during her recent appearance on “Britain's Got Talent.”

J.Lo's mom Guadalupe was said to be shocked and outraged when her daughter launched into a raunchy, dominatrix-inspired performance in front of the cameras.

Guadalupe, who lives in New York, was stunned by some of the many TV news clips of J.Lo.'s performance and couldn't believe she'd be so over the top on a family show, according to an insider, who added: “She's a very traditional, conservative Catholic who believes a woman's body is only for her husband.

“She was embarrassed when she saw Jen, dressed like a dominatrix in a skimpy leather outfit and thigh-high boots, shaking her booty for the cameras. Guadalupe didn't mince words with her.”

EVEN THOUGH THE SINGER IS 43 years old and a bona fide superstar, she apparently still fears her mother's wrath.

“Guadalupe's not one to mess with,” said the source. “Jen knows she wouldn't be where she is today without her support, and she was heartbroken when her mom got upset at her.”

"It was a beautiful and joyous occasion."

Meanwhile, Rosie was noticeably silent about the wedding on Twitter.

"Normally she's a fiend when it comes to tweeting and making her feelings known loud and clear," said the source. "But on June 1, there was not a single tweet from her about Kelli remarrying and moving on – no well-wishes, nothing."

Two days later, she apparently had a change of heart, posting a photo on Twitter tagged: "Chelsea n Blake at Kelli & Anne's wedding."

"That was it," said the source. "Other than that, there hasn't been a single word from her congratulating the couple."

JULIA'S JEALOUS OF 'BEAUTY' GWYNETH

JULIA ROBERTS has declared war on Gwyneth Paltrow!

A source says Julia, 45, exploded when "People" magazine named Gwyneth, 40, its "Most Beautiful Woman" – and the "Pretty Woman" is plotting to kick the "Iron Man" babe to the curb.

"Julia's won the magazine's 'Most Beautiful Woman' title four times," a source told The ENQUIRER.

"The last time was in 2010, and even though it was highly unlikely she'd be chosen again so soon, Julia got the shock of her life when Gwyneth got the nod. She thought a twenty-something actress like Jennifer Lawrence, not someone in her age group, would get it."

JULIA REPORTEDLY TURNED DOWN the role in 1998's "Shakespeare in Love" that won Gwyneth an Oscar, but went on to earn an Academy Award for the 2000 drama "Erin Brockovich."

Julia has been focusing on the big screen and raising her three children out of the Hollywood limelight. On the other hand, Gwyneth not only built an empire with her Goop website and best-selling cookbooks, she wowed on the red carpet while promoting the "Iron Man" franchise.

"Julia's not going to sit back and watch Gwyneth become the most in-demand A-list actress in her 40s," said the source. "That's Julia's territory, thank you very much!"

"Julia knows there are limited parts for actresses in their 40s, and she wants to make sure that she's every director's first choice for those roles."

Paris Jackson CUSTODY BATTLE TURNS UGLY

IN the aftermath of her failed suicide attempt, Paris Jackson is caught in an ugly tug-of-war over her future.

Family sources tell The ENQUIRER that three factions are battling to look after the troubled 15-year-old daughter of the late King of Pop.

In one corner is Paris' grandmother and legal guardian Katherine Jackson – Michael's 83-year-old mother.

In another corner is Paris' biological mother, Debbie Rowe, and in the third corner now is Motown legend Diana Ross, whom Michael named "god-mother" to Paris and her brothers Prince and Blanket.

Michael Jackson

"IT'S TURNED INTO AN ugly tug-of-war over Paris' future care," a close family source told The ENQUIRER.

"Katherine's been at odds with Paris, but she played a trump card by bringing the children's former nanny Grace Rwaramba back into the picture.

"Paris adores Grace, and Katherine hopes Grace can serve as a buffer to keep the peace between them." But Grace and Paris' mom Debbie despise each other, said the source.

After her divorce from Michael in 1999, Debbie relinquished custody rights of Paris and Prince. She was paid $8 million and given a house in Beverly Hills. "Grace felt that Debbie turned her back on the kids, got a big payday and didn't want anything to do with them," said the source.

"While Michael was alive, Grace raised the kids like a mother."

Paris had been rebuilding her relationship with Debbie, but on June 5 she took 20 over-the-counter pain pills and cut herself with a kitchen knife. She was hospitalized on a 72-hour psychiatric hold and later moved to UCLA Medical Center, where her father died in June 2009 at age 50.

Meanwhile, Diana Ross plans to discuss the situation with Katherine, Debbie Rowe and Paris, said the second source, adding: "If Diana isn't happy with what she hears, she's going to court to try to get the kids herself!"

McCartney's American wife ENDS BEATLE'S FEUD WITH SON

ALL YOU NEED IS LOVE

PAUL MCCARTNEY's former druggie son James says he's reconciled with his famous Beatle dad – and owes it to Paul's new wife!

The 35-year-old guitarist reveals he was delighted when Sir Paul, 71, married American Nancy Shevell, 53, in 2011.

"Nancy's my new mother," James – who's on a country-wide American tour – gushed to a British newspaper.

"I FEEL THAT. DEFINITELY. SHE'S VERY GENUINE.

I knew her a year or so before she married Dad. She has been one of the biggest supporters of me doing this, pursuing my own dreams. She wants me to have my own career. She makes Dad very, very happy. We all adore her."

But James admits one of his mother Linda lost her battle with breast cancer in April 1998, he turned to drugs, and drifted away from his famous dad.

"We would talk on the phone every few months, but we went a long time without seeing each other," he recalled. "It was sad for both of us."

His father's second marriage to model Heather Mills in 2002 didn't help.

"My relationship with Heather was not very good," James admitted. "I didn't like her."

Finally, after James' stint in an Arizona rehab facility and Paul's heart angioplasty procedure in 2007, the two mended fences. James moved to the family's English estate and rebooted his musical career, even playing on two of his father's albums.

"I removed myself from my family for a while. Now I want to immerse myself in them," said James, who's been sober for seven months. "I love Dad so much. I'm in a happy place. I'm not high, which is a good thing. I just want to be the best person I can be."

Kirstie Alley is BIG FAT LIAR!

- Changes fake diet claims after court case
- Humiliated star loses megabuck$ lawsuit
- Her reputation is in tatters

KIRSTIE ALLEY is humiliated after a year-long legal battle forced her to change the weight-loss claims of her popular diet program, says a source.

Court documents obtained exclusively by The ENQUIRER reveal that the former “Fat Actress” star paid out a hefty six-figure sum and quietly settled a lawsuit with a disgruntled customer who slammed Kirstie’s Organic Liaison diet products as nothing but a pricey fraud.

“THIS IS A MAJOR SETBACK not only to Kirstie’s profitable business enterprise, but also to her reputation,” a source close to the star told The ENQUIRER. “Her expensive lawyers did everything in their power trying to dismiss the lawsuit, but the judge found Kirstie’s program misleading. Her claims that her products were proven to help lose weight were deemed false advertising.”

suit against Alley’s Florida-based company in July 2012, finally got her day in court, forcing the former “Dancing with the Stars” finalist to make changes to her products’ claims.

As The ENQUIRER reported in August 2012, Abramyan, who bought nearly $200 worth of products, claimed that the ingredients in Organic Liaison did nothing to help her shed pounds.

Abramyan also accused the 5-foot-8 actress of misleading the public by claiming she’d lost 100 pounds thanks to the products. But she never

According to legal documents filed in Los Angeles Superior Court on March 20, 2013, Alley must abide by the settlement agreement, which includes removing the term “Proven Products” and issuing a disclaimer on Organic Liaison’s website explaining that it’s a “calorie-based weight-loss product.”

The plus-size star’s bio page on the promotional website also must include a statement that Kirstie appeared on “DWTS” in 2011. In a final blow, Alley, 62, will pay Abramyan and her attorneys a whopping $130,000.

An insider says the former “Cheers” and “Veronica’s Closet” star is shattered over the ruling.

“The public trusted Kirstie,” said the close source, “and the outcome of the lawsuit has devastated her.”

CURIOSITY didn't kill the cat this time – but it came awfully close!

Not long after Vanessa Waite adopted her new kitten, Alphie, she noticed he had a strange fascination with her television. She'd often catch him sitting in front of the TV, perfectly still, staring intently at the pictures on the screen. But she didn't realize that little Alphie also had developed a bizarre obsession with the TV's antenna – until he swallowed it!

"He wants to put everything in his mouth," said Vanessa, 36, "but I never dreamed he'd try to swallow a six-inch long piece of metal."

"It was almost as long as him! It's incredible he survived."

Vanessa says the trouble started one night after she heard a loud bang in her living room.

"I assumed Alphie had fallen off the windowsill," she explained. "He seemed OK and was just hiding under the bed."

"But during the night he started being sick, so the next morning I took him to the vet. I hadn't even

"It's one of the most unusual cases I've ever come across," she noted.

"It's very lucky that he didn't swallow it the other way around, because the sharp broken end could have punctured his stomach and caused damage to his intestines, which could have been fatal."

"I'm so grateful to the vets for saving his life. He's going to make a FULL RECOVERY"

Fortunately, surgery to remove the offending object went off without a hitch.

"I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw the antenna looked huge in his tiny body," said Vanessa. "I'm so grateful to the vets for saving his life, and it's amazing that he's going to make a full recovery."

Has this experience taught Alphie a lesson? Not a chance!

"When he came home, he acted as though nothing had happened – it definitely hasn't made him change his mischievous ways," Vanessa added. "He's a real handful."

"He still loves the TV, but I don't leave him alone with it anymore."

TOM CRUISE EX's SECRET HIDEAWAY

Holmes from home FOR STRESSED-OUT BEAUTY

KATIE HOLMES has spent a half-million bucks of ex-hubby Tom Cruise's divorce settlement to build a stunning waterfront getaway just miles from her childhood home!

The ENQUIRER has learned that stressed-out Katie plans to spend summers and holidays at the lakeside retreat in southeast Michigan so her daughter Suri, 7, can grow up out of the limelight and develop strong Midwestern values.

"Katie wants Suri to experience what life is like in the Midwest and to get a taste of traditional American values," said a source close to the Holmes family. "She hopes to take Suri there every summer and for Thanksgiving too. This will be a far cry from the jet-setting Suri does with her dad."

Katie, 34, was raised in Toledo, Ohio, and her new home is only 50 miles away on exclusive Manitou Beach in the tiny town of Devils Lake, a resort entirely for her own use. The actress' family and Kathleen, own a vacation home less than a mile away. Sources say her lawyer father secretly negotiated the purchase of Katie's property and the construction of her stately two-story home.

Katie's unique lakeside house she had built on Devils Lake

"KATIE DIDN'T WANT A PLACE IN the Hamptons or Florida," said another insider. "She's a Midwestern girl, and she wanted a place back home."

But her top priority seems to be Suri. "Katie's family wants Suri to be around her cousins and aunts and uncles," said the insider. "They're determined that she not grow up like a spoiled brat."

Katie's parents

Parents' house is located on the same shore as Katie's new place

KATIE HOLMES has been rocked by a one-two punch. First, she discovered that budding boyfriend "Mina Days" co-star Luke Kirby was still seeing his former girlfriend, Andrea Sarubbi, on the sly. Then, just when she needed her daughter most, little Suri was whisked away for a luxurious vacation by Katie's ex-husband, Tom Cruise.

The situation has taken a toll on Katie, and she broke down as a result of the stress, say sources.

"I've never seen Katie look so gaunt and exhausted," a friend of the actress told The ENQUIRER. "She's like a shell of her former self. It wasn't long ago that Katie seemed so vibrant and full of energy."

"She was brimming with life and hope for a future with Luke. But when she found out he still had feelings for Andrea, she broke down in tears."

As The ENQUIRER reported in our June 17 issue, co-stars Katie and Luke — who have been shooting sexually charged scenes together — seemed to be making sparks off-screen as well.

On May 21, the two were spotted strolling together in New York's Greenwich Village before stopping at a trendy Middle Eastern restaurant for lunch.

They had also been spending time together in Katie's private trailer, as well as at her Manhattan apartment, where they rehearsed their lines.

But the cozy friendship may be coming to an end. Sources say that even though Luke, 35, had moved out of the Brooklyn apartment he'd shared with costume designer Sarubbi earlier this year, Katie recently learned the two remained in contact.

"LUKE TALKS ABOUT Andrea as if she were still his girlfriend, even though they aren't living together anymore," said another insider. "And that's hurt Katie deeply."

"She thought they were on the fast track to a full-on romance."

Under normal circumstances, Katie, 34, would pour herself into mothering 7-year-old daughter Suri to get through the difficult time. But when she learned the truth about Luke, ex-hubby Tom, 50, whisked the youngster away on a fun-filled weekend trip to the prestigious Greenbrier resort in White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.

Suri flew to the posh resort aboard her dad's private jet for the June 8-9 weekend. Father and daughter shared a private cottage on the complex's lush grounds.

"SURI AND TOM WERE HAVING A great time together," said a source close to the actor. "They went swimming together in the large pool. They shared ice cream cones and took long walks around the resort. 'They had tons of fun.'"

While Katie's rep says it "isn't true at all" that the actress is feeling abandoned or that a relationship with Luke and Tom's daddy-daughter trip with Suri have caused Holmes an emotional blow, the insider maintains that Katie has "never felt so alone."

I've never seen Katie look so gaunt and exhausted

According to sources, the weight of her troubles finally came crashing down on June 13 following a speech she gave at a charity event in Fairfield, Conn. Speaking before a crowd of 600 at the annual Rose of Hope luncheon to support Bridgeport Hospital's Norma F. Pfriem Breast Care Center, Katie shared her own mother's battle with ovarian cancer, something she rarely discusses publicly.

Katie told the crowd: "I don't know anyone who hasn't been affected, directly or indirectly, by this disease (cancer)."

Revealed at last: How Michael Douglas made nice with irate wifey Zeta-Jones

That “oral sex” bombshell dropped by MICHAEL DOUGLAS keeps on costing the embattled star – especially at home! In last week's analysis of shockwaves generated when he blurted that his throat cancer “is caused by HPV, which actually comes about from cunnilingus,” I told My Readers: “Jaws dropped all over Hollywood!...First reaction from everyone was, ‘Ohmigod, poor CATHERINE ZETA-JONES. How will his wife handle the obvious questions?’” Here's my deadline scoop, folks, revealed by a friend of Mrs. Douglas, who said: “Catherine was furious and mortified when news broke worldwide that her husband had blurted to an interviewer that his cancer was caused by HPV transmitted by oral sex. Michael immediately launched into a frenzy of apologies to his horrified wife, and desperately tried to back-pedal on his statement, but the damage was done – the whole world was speculating on whether Catherine also had the virus! And nothing Michael could do would stop the whispers.” Here's My Kicker: Feeling miserable about embarrassing his beloved wife – who's suffered and been hospitalized with her own issues lately – the “Behind the Candelabra” star knew apologies would never be enough, so he quietly ducked into famed jeweler Harry Winston's in Manhattan and bought her an “I'm sooo sorry” gift – a stunning platinum diamond lariat necklace. Price tag: $40,000. (Can't hurt, pal. Good luck!)

■ “DOWNTON ABBEY” DOWNER! Facing down millions of outraged fans who hate how he ruthlessly killed off wildly popular series hero Matthew Crawley, played by DAN STEVENS, in a last-minute car crash, “Abbey” creator JULIAN FELLOWES kept insisting he had NO choice because Dan had opted to leave the show – but that’s apparently a DAMN LIE, according to (are you ready, folks?) Fellowes HIMSELF! Said My SpyWitness: “Julian was speaking at an industry panel event when he suddenly let slip that Dan ‘kept going back and forth’ about his decision to leave warned her to lay off jokes relating to Angelina – now and forever. After eight years of hate, Jennifer told pals she wishes only the best for Angie during her next operation and recovery period. But she’s still made it crystal clear that she’s not planning to strike up a friendship, or even speak to Angie directly. She will not make contact with her – or Brad – ever. She simply says the show – and ‘then it was too late.’ Industry insiders who heard Fellowes’ shocking statement took it to mean that by the time Dan opted to stay with the show, Fellowes impatiently refused to rewrite the death scene, crushing millions of devastated fans!” Show insiders now confide that what triggered Dan’s untimely “Downton” death was a vicious war of egos between him and the imperious show creator.

AS WEDDING'S DELAYED AGAIN JEN FEELS USED BY JUSTIN!

He's putting his career BEFORE MARRIAGE

JENNIFER ANISTON's wedding is a no-go – due to fiancé Justin Theroux's booming career, a source says.

The dashing actor/screenwriter, 41, is starring in the HBO pilot, "The Leftovers," and now he's saying he's too busy to walk down the aisle!

"Jen and Justin's marriage plans are on hold," said an insider.

"Justin swears up and down that he loves Jen dearly, and he'll make her his wife, just not right now.

"But Jen isn't a happy camper over taking a backseat to Justin's career."

Justin wants to postpone their big day

“Justin is trying to soothe Jen's insecurities”

The former "Friends" beauty, 44, and Justin got engaged last August. As The ENQUIRER has reported, Jennifer was putting the final touches on a prenuptial agreement that would protect her $150 million fortune.

The couple had reportedly set a spring wedding date and settled on designs for their wedding bands.

But between dealing with extensive renovations on their $21 million mansion in Bel-Air, Calif., and his packed work schedule, Justin told Jen that he's too swamped to think about a wedding, said the source.

"Justin has always felt insecure about not being as successful or as rich as Jen," added the source.

"So he started gunning for high-profile acting projects.

"When he landed the HBO pilot, Justin told Jen that he thought it'd be best if they postponed their wedding for awhile."

While Justin has had a number of small roles in movies and on TV, he's earned a reputation as a well-regarded screenwriter with scripts for "Iron Man 2" and "Tropic Thunder."

"But he's hoping the HBO show catapults him onto the A-list, and Jen is beginning to wonder if he's getting cold feet," said the source.

"She's even accused Justin of piggybacking on her fame to boost his career.

"Justin is trying to soothe Jen's insecurities, but what she wants more than anything is to become Mrs. Theroux as soon as possible."

ANISTON'S $21M MANSION HAS CHICKEN COOP

Jen and Justin may be suffering bumps in their relationship, but they're eating fresh eggs.

The actress recently renovated the $21 million digs she shares with her beau in Bel-Air and it boasts its own chicken coop. Health-conscious Jen also has a vegetable garden and a vineyard.

We hear chickens are lining up to be Jen's best feathered friends, since Jen gave them a henhouse to be admired, with plenty of room to cluck away.

"They're very social animals and they like it when you visit them with a cup of coffee in your hand," she said in an interview. "According to my groundskeeper, they love pasta."

Huma Abedin has been the subject of rumors concerning her relationship with Hillary

Exotic beauty WHO CAUGHT HILLARY'S EYE

In a side scandal that could put a spotlight on the longtime lesbian rumors surrounding Hillary, her former deputy chief of staff – and alleged lover – Huma Abedin is also being investigated!

Sen. Charles Grassley of Iowa is demanding that Secretary of State John Kerry determine how Huma landed a private six-figure consultant job while serving as a top State Department official with a government salary of $135,000 a year. Under a special arrangement apparently approved by Hillary in 2012, Huma earned outside cash working for the international consulting firm Teneo Holdings.

HUMA – AN EXOTIC PAKISTANI-INDIAN BEAUTY raised in Saudi Arabia – began working as a White House intern for Hillary in 1996 and became her top aide four years later and still works for her.

When she married now-disgraced New York congressman Anthony Weiner in 2010, Huma faced claims that she only got hitched to cover up her relationship with Hillary.

A top-level Justice Department official was quoted as saying the rumor was true.

“If you call Hillary’s residence in D.C. the first thing in the morning, Huma answers the phone,” said the official. “Same thing late at night and on the road. It’s a closely guarded secret that Hillary’s inner circle protects at all costs.”

HILLARY CLINTON has been caught in a sex scandal cover-up – and sources say it could destroy her White House. In a blockbuster investigation, The ENQUIRER has learned that the ambitious former first lady squashed a series of shocking sexual shenanigans during her stint as secretary of state.

While Hillary has flatly denied the whitewash, sources say she even hid it at first from her husband, ex-president Bill Clinton. But when he found out about the corruption at the State Department, he advised Hillary to distance herself from the sordid mess.

Now pals fear the stress of her underhanded behavior being made public could trigger serious new medical issues for the 65-year-old politico, just five months after she suffered a life-threatening skull blood clot.

“Hillary broke down in tears and made a stunning confession to Bill about what she said she thought was going on under her watch,” revealed a close source.

“She cried, ‘It’s a f***** mess!’

“Bill directed Hillary to ‘steer clear’ of it and keep her head down. He thought that if the scandal blew up in public at the time, it would hurt her chances to get into the White House.

“Both Bill and Hillary thought she’d escaped with the sleazy secrets buried when she left her post as secretary of state. But now they’ve reared their ugly head thanks to a whistleblower, who has others backing up his claims.

“Despite Hillary’s public demeanor that she’s done nothing wrong, behind the scenes she’s shaking over fears that her come public, and it will cost her the 2016 election.”

Hillary watchers were recently stunned when former State Department inspector general investigator Aurelia Fedenisn wrote an official memo stating that eight State Department sex scandals were swept under the rug while Hillary was in charge. Those cases included shutting down an investigation into Brett McGurk, President Barack Obama’s first choice for U.S. ambassador to Iraq, for an alleged extramarital affair.

Another cover-up involved U.S. Ambassador to Belgium Howard Gutman allegedly soliciting prostitutes. Gutman, a major Obama fundraiser, has denied the charges.

IN YET ANOTHER INCIDENT, SEVERAL

members of Hillary’s security detail received only a slap on the wrist after hiring prostitutes while on official trips in foreign countries. Worse, they allegedly brought the women to their hotel rooms while traveling with Hillary on State Department business.

Another whitewash involved a security official stationed in Beirut who engaged in sexual assaults against foreign nationals working as embassy guards, according to investigator Fedenisn.

The scandal exploded in mid-June when a published report claimed that during Hillary’s tenure, a female U.S. consulate worker was hounded out of her job after complaining about a boss’ office trysts with subordinates and hookers. In a bombshell declaration, Kerry Howard said she was bullied, harassed and forced to resign after she exposed U.S. Consul General Donald Moore’s alleged sexual shenanigans in the State Department’s office in Naples, Italy.

Just days after Moore landed his job, which pays up to $179,700 a year, he allegedly bedded a consulate employee, a single mom. When she became pregnant, Moore insisted the woman get an abortion, according to Howard.

While Hillary has denied any wrongdoing, a State Department spokesperson said: “We take allegations of misconduct seriously and we will investigate thoroughly.” But Fedenisn’s attorney, who has provided The ENQUIRER with shocking documents related to the scandals, has blasted the State Department.

Hillary initially tried to hide the scandals from her husband. One of them involved President Obama's choice for ambassador to Iraq agency is impaired,” declared lawyer Cary Schulman. In an exclusive interview with The ENQUIRER, Schulman added: “While there is no evidence, either in handwritten or electronic memos, that Hillary had prior knowledge of these grave and disturbing incidents, it’s possible she could have been apprised of them verbally. And I personally feel some people will go to jail, especially if the FBI gets involved and a proper and thorough investigation is done.”

Meanwhile, the allegations have Hillary’s critics champing at the bit.

LUCIANNE GOLDBERG, PUBLISHER OF THE CONSERVATIVE website Lucianne.com, told The ENQUIRER: “Was Bill pulling any strings behind the scenes by advising Hillary NOT to investigate the State Department sex scandals on her watch and to plead ignorance?”

Now, sources close to Hillary fear her already precarious health could suffer under the pressure.

“The anxiety and stress she’s under could easily make Hillary seriously ill, and even put her life in jeopardy. After all, she’s no spring chicken,” said an insider.

“She turns 66 this year, she recently recovered from a critical blood clot next to her brain, and she’s strategizing to run for the White House. Now she’s becoming entangled in State Department sex scandals that could put her back in the hospital, and destroy her political future!”

TONI TENNILLE GOES TO THE DOGS

THE Captain & Tennille singing sensation Toni Tennille is taking her show on the road again, but this time she's got a new sidekick – her dog Smoky!

The duo can be found cheering up patients once a week at Arizona's Yavapai Regional Medical Center in Prescott through a program called Pets Are Warm Support.

"Every Thursday that Toni is in town, she and Smoky show up at the center to visit with patients," a pal told The ENQUIRER.

The Captain & Tennille in their heyday

In order to volunteer for the pet program, both the pooch and its owner have to attend the Delta Society dog therapy training, which Toni and Smoky – an Australian shepherd – did a couple of years ago, says the pal. Since that time, she's spent many hours sitting and talking with patients, who seem to get a real kick out of the celebrity and her four-legged friend.

"Toni is a real sweetheart," said the pal. "She's generous and gives freely of her time. Her dog is super-friendly, and very well-behaved, and whenever they are in the building, they light up the place."

Toni, 73, and her husband/music partner, "Captain" Daryl Dragon, wed in 1975, the same year they released their first album. They retired to their "dream home" in Prescott, Ariz., in 2008.

Although Toni still enjoys performing on occasion, Daryl, now 70, suffers tremors from a neurological condition similar to Parkinson's disease, which makes it difficult for him to accompany his wife on keyboards.

"Toni still loves to get up in front of her fans and sing her heart out," noted the pal, "but it's just too difficult for Daryl."

The musical couple is best known for hit songs such as "Love Will Keep Us Together" and "Muskrat Love." They also had a short-lived TV show, which ran from 1976 to 1977.

"Toni and Daryl are as much in love as ever," added the pal. "Last year, I ran into her at a coffee shop in town and she was glowing. When I asked her how she was, she told me, 'It's my 37th wedding anniversary today and I just woke up once again in the arms of the man I love...life couldn't be better.'"

PLASTIC SURGERY SECRETS EXPOSED

THEN

JACQUELINE LAURITA: Jacqueline had a total body overhaul after Season 3, including a neck-lift and tummy tuck during Season 5. She had cheek fillers, lip injections, a nose job and Botox – and let's not forget a breast-lift and reduction after the birth of her son, Nicholas, in 2009. "I'm done having kids and wanted to fix them," the 43-year-old said of her gravity-stricken breasts. Some suggest she went under the knife after hubby Chris allegedly cheated on her. "Jacqueline was devastated and Chris regretted it," said a source. Estimated cost: $35,000.

BODY SHOCKERS of the reality stars

MELISSA GORGA: Melissa, 34, is the youngest star of "RHONJ" – and if you ask her, she says: "I have fake boobies, but that's all I need." Well, that's not ALL she's had done: Melissa's supposedly also had injections to juice up her kisser. Despite her good girl rep on the show, The ENQUIRER reported that Melissa had an 18-month affair with another woman, Jamie Bauer, when she was a teen. Bauer remembers the mother of three as a "wild child" with an "insatiable appetite for sex." Estimated cost: $10,200.

THE "Real Housewives of New Jersey" are back and showing they're a cut above the rest. They're not afraid to spend a pretty penny for a nip here and a tuck there. In fact, although he hasn't treated them, top plastic surgeon Dr. Anthony Youn estimates the ladies – now on Season 5 – have spent at LEAST $100,000 on cosmetic procedures. And if the catty competition among them keeps up, they're just getting started!

NOW

TERESA GIUDICE: It may turn out to be a good thing for Teresa that she's gone under the knife to boost her bust. The 41-year-old may need to put her best chest forward. Hubby Joe is facing up to 10 years in the slammer on fraud charges! On Season 1 of the series, fans watched as Teresa went from an A-cup to at least a full C. In true Teresa fashion, she said: "I was just a big nipple!" Some fans have speculated that she recently had another boob job – her "girls" were looking MUCH bigger in the Season 5 premiere. Estimated cost: at least $10,000.

NOW

KATHY WAKILE: In May 2012, Kathy, 47, revealed she'd had a nose job the prior New Year's Eve, saying: "I broke it twice, so it was time to get rid of it." She also tweeted during the Season 4 reunion show that she'd had her lips plumped up. Sources say Kathy had the work done to keep up with the other glamorous girls on the show. "She'd also like to have surgery so she'd look less bug-eyed," said a source. Estimated cost: $11,200.

CAROLINE MANZO: At 51, the Manzo matriarch is the oldest "Housewife" in the group and believes in "growing old gracefully" without surgery. But she admits she had a tummy tuck when she was 39. Some sources say she may have done it to keep her hubby, Albert (above), from straying. In her book "Let Me Tell You Something," she hints that he may have cheated on her 25 years ago. Meanwhile, Albert and their daughter, Lauren, both had the lap-band procedure to lose weight – and look great! Estimated cost: $35,000 for the three procedures.

BABY JOY FOR TROUBLED MARIE

Beloved star, 53, IS GOING TO BE A GRANDMA

GET ready to call Marie Osmond “Grandma”! Her eldest son, Stephen Craig, has finally made good on his promise to give his superstar mom her first grandchild!

A SOURCE CLOSE TO MARIE, 53, tells The ENQUIRER that Stephen’s wife, Claire, is three months pregnant – and they’re praying it’s a boy.

That’s because, as we reported in 2011, the parents-to-be hope to name their son Michael – as a tribute to Stephen’s adopted brother who committed suicide at age 18.

Michael had been suffering from depression when he jumped from the eighth-floor balcony of his Los Angeles apartment building in February 2010.

“Needless to say, Marie was absolutely devastated by Michael’s death,” said the source.

Michael Bryan

“That’s why finally becoming a grandma means so much to her. It’s bringing a measure of joy back into her life.”

“Marie said, ‘I can’t wait! You won’t be able to get me away from that child!’”

Stephen, 30, wed Claire Olds, 29, in a Mormon ceremony in Newport Beach, Calif., in September 2011.

“Marie was deeply touched when Steve told her the baby news,” said a source.

“He also told his mom that, if it’s a baby girl, they’ll name her Olive in honor of Marie (whose first name is Olive) and her late mother Olive, who died in 1999.”

“Marie said, ‘It doesn’t matter if it’s a boy or a girl. Simply having a grandchild would be the greatest gift that Steve and Claire could possibly give me.’”

COMEDIAN Martin Lawrence’s ex-wife plans to dish the dirt on their marriage on a reality TV show – and he’s furious! The “Bad Boys” star demanded that his ex Shamicka Gibbs not appear on VH1’s “Hollywood Exes,” sources say, but she flatly refused.

“Martin is fit to be tied because all he can do is sit and stew,” said a series insider.

“But Shamicka is having a ball hanging out with the show’s other ‘exes’ and gossiping about everything!”

LAWRENCE, 48, AND SHAMICKA, 37, first hooked up in 1995. They married in 2010, but divorced after two years. They’re parents to daughters Lyanna, 12, and Amara, 10.

Shamicka, who was recently diagnosed with the autoimmune disease lupus, will appear on the second season of “Hollywood Exes.” It premieres July 8, and Lawrence has given her plenty of material.

He was banned for life from “Saturday Night Live” in 1994 after making vulgar comments in his opening monologue.

In May 1996, he was hospital-

His co-star on TV’s “Martin,” Tisha Campbell-Martin, sued him for sexual harassment and sexual battery in 1997, and he nearly died in 1999 after jogging in 100-degree heat in several layers of clothing.

“Shamicka is devastated the marriage is over, but she said that she’s not going to shut up just because Martin told her to,”

added the source.

FIRST PHOTOS & WORLD EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

CLEVELAND house of horrors survivor Amanda Berry has finally been reunited with her dying dad.

Now 27, Amanda had not seen her father, Johnny Berry, since before she was allegedly kidnapped in 2003 by monster Ariel Castro, who held her prisoner in his home for more than a decade. The tearful reunion took place, appropriately, over Father's Day weekend.

"Spending time with my daughter

Amanda and my granddaughter was the best Father's Day ever," Johnny told THE ENQUIRER in an exclusive interview.

Amanda, her 6-year-old daughter, Jocelyn, and Amanda's sister Beth Serrano made the eight-hour drive from Cleveland to Elizabethton, Tenn., where father and daughter spent five days getting reacquainted.

"When Amanda came through my front door it was like a miracle," Johnny said. "She started crying and ran up to me and we hugged for the first time in 10 years. I had tears in my eyes the size of raindrops.

Amanda is not ready to talk about her painful years

Amanda Berry's father Johnny

"Man, I couldn't believe it. I didn't want to let her go. I told her, 'Bout time you got here!'"

"That made her laugh. Then finally, Amanda said to me the words I haven't heard from her in 10 years, 'Happy Father's Day, Daddy.' And before I realized it, she slipped a beautiful silver ring on my finger that says: 'DAD.' I'm never going to take that ring off."

JOHNNY SAYS HE WAS EQUALLY excited to meet his granddaughter, who was allegedly fathered by the evil kidnapper.

"I thought she would be a bit nervous but she just fit right in immediately," he recalled. "She gave me a hug and I instantly knew deep in my heart that she's a Berry. She has her mom's beauty, strength and intelligence. I said to her: 'Hi, Jocelyn, I'm your grandpa Johnny, and I love you.'"

The warm reception was a world away from Amanda's ordeal at the hands of her alleged captor Castro. The fiend has been charged with 329 counts including kidnapping, rape and murder in connection with his imprisonment of Amanda, Gina DeJesus and Michelle Knight.

Now, crime lab experts in Ohio have found additional DNA evidence in Castro's home, and they want to test it to see if the twisted creep had even more victims. Meanwhile, prosecutors are still deciding on whether or not to seek the death penalty.

The captives were found when brave Amanda, with help from neighbors, broke free from Castro's home on May 6. When police arrived, they discovered Gina and Michelle inside the house.

The women have all been reunited with family. But, as THE ENQUIRER reported in our June 3 issue, Amanda's ailing dad Johnny, 53 – who is nearly paralyzed and suffers from deadly pulmonary disease – feared that he wouldn't live long enough to see Amanda again or get to meet his granddaughter.

While Amanda isn't ready to talk about the painful years she allegedly spent as Castro's prisoner, Johnny calls her a "real survivor."

"She's real strong," he said. "Her nickname as a kid was 'Commando Amanda. I brought my kids up tough, and Amanda is proof of that.

"I'm going to let her talk about it when she's ready. I'm just happy she's back home. I'm here for her and ready to help in any way I can."

Johnny wanted to make Amanda's first trip to visit him as comfortable as possible, so he fixed up her old bedroom as soon as he found out she was coming.

"We put some family photos on the wall and got her some beautiful flowers. I wanted everything to be perfect," he said.

During her stay, Amanda was also able to spend time with some other relatives in the area. The family even put together a small reunion at a local campsite, where they feasted on hot dogs, cheeseburgers and potato salad. And they surprised her with her favorite dessert – banana pudding.

"Amanda is slowly getting her life back on track," Johnny noted. "She's getting her and her daughter's medical checkups completed and thinking about putting Jocelyn into school next year. Amanda is going to finish up her high school education and wants to eventually go to junior

"SHE'S EVEN PAINTED HER NAILS and dyed her hair blonde. She really can't make any major plans until the trial is over. Once it is, I'm hoping that she'll move down here to Elizabeth-ton where she has tons of family."

But Johnny adds that Amanda still feels imprisoned because she has to tell the FBI whenever she goes anywhere and is forbidden from contacting her fellow captives until after Still, Johnny is happy Amanda is finally free from Castro and content with their twice daily phone calls.

"Amanda told me she's coming back to see me next month," he said. "I'm already counting the days."

ROB LOWE CLEANS UP ACT

Former Brat Packer credits wife
with turnaround

Rob and Sheryl have been married since 1991

LIFE in the fast lane nearly ruined Rob Lowe – but the former Brat Packer says rehab and the love of a good woman helped him turn his life around.

“My life today is so much more interesting than it was back then,” said Lowe.

The handsome actor was known for his hard partying and sexcapades with Monaco’s Princess Stephanie and actresses Nastassja Kinski, Demi Moore and Melissa Gilbert. But his good times led to a near career-crippling scandal in 1988 when a tape of him having sex with three women – one of them an underage teen – surfaced.

But Lowe has changed a lot from those scandalous years. Today he says: “You can make monogamy exciting – you just have to be with the right person. I picked the right woman. She’s sexy, she’s hot, she’s interesting. She keeps me on my toes.”

Lowe, 49, is talking about his wife, former makeup artist Sheryl Berkoff, 52. The two started dating in 1989, married in 1991 and now have two sons.

“I KNEW IF I COULDN’T MAKE IT WORK with Sheryl, I couldn’t make it work with anybody,” Lowe said. “She didn’t give me any ultimatums. She understood me in a way that nobody had, and she still does.”

Lowe – who played Liberace’s drug- and booze-addled plastic surgeon in the HBO hit “Behind the Candelabra” – recently tweeted that he celebrated 23 years of sobriety. He says he made the announcement because “it’s important for people to see that I’m sober.”

“There’s a sense now that rehab is a place you go to ‘rehab’ your image or because a judge wants you to go, or you want to save your career or your marriage,” he added. “I went because I was done. I wanted a new life.”

“There is no need to feel defeated at 40, 50 or 60,” Cattrall proclaimed in an interview. “I’m having the greatest time in the second half of my life – and have enjoyed the best sex after the age of 40.”

WHILE SHE’S PLAYED THE blonde sexpot on camera, Cattrall – a Golden Globe winner for her role as bed-hopping public relations exec Samantha Jones on “SATC” – claims her real-life sex life was far from fabulous.

“I remember going to bed with a real good-looking ladies’ man in the hope that he would teach me what I had been missing. He didn’t.”

THE BRITISH-BORN BEAUTY, WHO’S been divorced three times, is now performing on stage in London.

She’s been dating renowned wealthy American artist Clifford Ross, 60, and says she has the utmost respect for actresses of a certain age.

“Whenever I take a look at women like Helen Mirren or Judi Dench, in their 60s and 70s, I think, ‘That’s how I want to be,’” she noted.

KELLY PRESTON is turning lemons into lemonade after her acting comeback flopped.

The 50-year-old wife of actor John Travolta hoped to revive her stalled career by starring in the pilot of a new sitcom, "Keep Calm and Karey On," but ABC passed on the series.

"KELLY IS OPTING TO view this setback as a blessing in disguise," said an insider. "She sees it as a sign that she should make her family a priority.

Now she'll have the time and energy to focus on salvaging her troubled marriage."

As The ENQUIRER has reported, Travolta wanted Kelly to skip filming the show in Los Angeles to be a stay-at-home mom to daughter Ella, 13, and son Benjamin, 2, in their Orlando, Fla.-area mansion – the only role she's played since their son Jett's tragic death in 2009.

After standing by John, 59, and looking the other way over his alleged gay trysts, Kelly threatened to end their 21-year marriage if he didn't allow her to restart her career. But with Kelly busy on set, the "Pulp Fiction" star took off on a bizarre 28-hour train odyssey with an obsessed male fan.

When he learned The ENQUIRER was set to report that Kelly threatened to initiate a divorce battle over their $220 million fortune (below), John high-tailed it to Kelly's side in California with son Ben.

"John promised he'd change his ways," said the source. "If only for the sake of their kids, Kelly's willing to give him another chance.

CELEBRITY chef Paula Deen has been caught in a shockingly insensitive racial slur, using the N-word and wanting black waiters to play the role of slaves at a wedding party she was planning.

What's more, the Emmy-winning southern kitchen queen also confesses to her brother's pornography, cocaine and booze addiction problems – and it's all captured ON VIDEO.

Insiders say the bombshell revelations, which came out during a legal deposition, will send shockwaves through Deen's $17 million culinary business and put an end to her TV career.

"The personal disclosures revealed have stunned Paula's family and could mark the collapse of her entire empire," a source told The ENQUIRER.

LAWYERS FOR THE GEORGIA-BORN

Food Network star tried to keep the explosive deposition away from the public. But The ENQUIRER has ripped the lid off the May 17 proceedings, during which the famous chef was grilled for three hours.

The popular TV star, restaurant owner and cookbook author was deposed as part of a discrimination lawsuit brought against her by one of her former restaurant managers, Lisa Jackson, who's suing for a whopping $1.2 million.

During the devastating videotaped deposition, Jackson's Atlanta-based attorney Matthew Bilips asked Deen if she's ever used the N-word, and the TV personality said: "Yes, of course."

I was working in and put a gun to my head," she recalled, and also while recounting "a conversation between blacks."

Asked her feelings about racial jokes, Deen candidly replied: "It's just what they are – they're jokes...most jokes are about Jewish people, rednecks, black folks...I can't determine what offends another person."

In a startling admission, the 66-year-old star of "Paula's Home Cooking" and other Food Network shows added that she wasn't offended when members of her family, including her tugboat captain hubby Michael Groover, told her jokes that contained the N-word, "because it's my husband."

In her lawsuit, Jackson recalled helping the celebrated chef plan the 2007 wedding of her younger brother and business partner Earl "Bubba" Hiers. She says Deen wanted "a true southern plantation-style wedding."

Jackson claims in her court documents that she asked Deen what type of uniforms she wanted the servers to wear, and she says Deen answered: "Well, what I would really like is a bunch of little *****s (N-word) to wear long-sleeve white shirts, black shorts and black bow ties...you know, in the Shirley Temple days, they used to tap dance around."

During the deposition, Paula explained she got the concept for the "plantation wedding" from a southern restaurant where she and her husband had dined.

THE ACCUSER

Lisa Jackson was a manager at Paula's restaurant staff was middle-aged black men, and they had on beautiful white jackets with a black bow tie," she said. "I mean, it was really impressive.

"That restaurant represented a certain era in America...after the Civil War, during the Civil War, before the Civil War...It was not only black men, it was black women...I would say they were slaves."

The deposition also uncovered Deen's surprising feelings about Bubba's alleged behavior at Uncle Bubba's Seafood and Oyster House, a restaurant the two co-own in Savannah. Asked if his use of the N-word or watching pornography in the workplace caused her concerns about his operating the business, incredibly she responded: "No."

Deen also confirmed Bubba had been to rehab for cocaine and alcohol addiction but claimed she'd been oblivious to his cocaine use.

THE QUESTIONING TURNED TO A MANAGER WHO'D

been fired because he had a relationship with an underage server, and Deen admitted she had referred to the young woman as "a piece of p****."

Bubba gave a separate deposition that exposed even more shockers. He even confessed to using the N-word in reference to President Barack Obama. He also admitted he'd gone to court-ordered rehab in 1986 for alcohol and cocaine addiction yet still denied ever having a booze problem.

Under intense grilling, Bubba revealed he watches pornography at home and on the job, saying sometimes it was the first thing he did when he got to work in the morning. He also confessed to once having stolen money from Paula.

Sources close to the Deen family say Paula and Bubba's shocking public admissions could be the lynch pin that triggers the collapse of Paula Deen Enterprises, the TV chef's extraordinary empire.

"While Paula and Bubba did make some pretty damaging confessions in their depositions, what they admitted to only scratches the surface of what actually goes on in their daily lives," the insider told The ENQUIRER.

"I've heard both of them spew disparaging comments about homosexuals, African-Americans, Hispanics, Asians and just about every other minority group you could name.

"And while they aren't necessarily always making comments to be malicious toward those people, their language is hurtful and ignorant.

"Based on the shocking revelations that have been made throughout this legal battle, it's no wonder Paula and Bubba fought to have some of the more damaging parts of the case sealed."

RUSSELL CROWE is back to his nasty old habits!

The 49-year-old Oscar winner has dumped his healthy lifestyle in favor of beer and cigarettes, a close pal told The ENQUIRER.

"He had a physically demanding role in 'Noah,' but since he finished that in November, Russell has let himself go," revealed the source.

"He's totally abandoned his diet and he's smoking up to two packs of cigarettes a day.

"Russell might love talking and tweeting about his fitness workouts, but when it comes to slimming down, he never seems to be able to get it together."

The "Gladiator" hunk is also struggling to patch up his marriage to actress Danielle Spencer, the mother of his two young sons.

"They're still separated, and there's no doubt it's contributed to his refusal to curb his bad habits."

But oddly enough, the Australian actor still likes to boast

JESSICA SIMPSON

Jessica has one of the brightest smiles in Hollywood but admits she doesn't like brushing her teeth because it makes them feel "too slippery." In lieu of a regular brushing, Jessica, 32, says that she sometimes opts to take a shortcut by simply rubbing the tartar from her teeth with a shirt. "I know it's gross," Jessica says. At least she's honest.

SNOOKI

"Jersey Shore" starlet Nicole "Snooki"

Polizzi dropped a bombshell skin-care secret during an interview with Conan O'Brien. The 25-year-old new mom says she uses clean kitty litter to exfoliate her skin. "I don't like to spend a lot of money on, like, spa treatments," Snooki explained. "Just because I'm, like, a cheapo." OK, we admit it – that confession just leaves us speechless!

MATTHEW MCCONAUGHEY, JOAN RIVERS & BRADLEY COOPER

Bradley, Joan and Matthew might seem like a pretty unlikely trio, but they all have one thing in common – they don't use deodorant! "Silver Linings Playbook" star Bradley, 38, revealed in an interview: "Yeah, I don't use deodorant really anymore." Not to be outdone, "Magic Mike" hunk Matthew, 43, says he hasn't worn it in more than 20 years. And acid-tongued comedian Joan Rivers has an interesting remedy for her armpit odor. "I always spray my costumes with vodka and water," admits Joan, 80. "It's an old Broadway trick – two-thirds water and one-third vodka – spray your armpits and you'll never smell again."

CRITTERS

THEY'RE gorgeous, rich and famous, but these celebrities have some low-down dirty habits! From greasy hair to other filthy behaviors, The ENQUIRER sets the record straight about which of Hollywood's hottest stars need to clean up their acts.

ANDERSON COOPER

CNN anchor Anderson, 46, may have one of the most squeaky-clean images in broadcasting, but he could also win the prize for filthiest britches. "So the times

I've washed my jeans, maybe twice in six months," Anderson confessed. "The times I've done it, I've worn them and walked into my shower with them and put some soap on them and then air-dried them. Isn't that how you're supposed to do it?" Maybe he should ask his mom – famed designer Gloria Vanderbilt – for some tips.

MEGAN FOX

"Transformers" knockout Megan is one of the most glamorous women in Tinseltown, but she's also an admitted slob! "I'm horrible to live with," says the 27-year-old actress, who shares space with her husband of three years, former "Beverly Hills, 90210" star Brian Austin Green. "I don't clean. My clothes end up wherever I take them off. I forget to flush the toilet." Hey, at least she's hot!

ROBERT PATTINSON

Millions of women around the globe would love to run their fingers through Robert's hair – but they may soon change their minds. When the "Twilight" hunk was asked in an interview if it was true that he hadn't washed his hair for six weeks, the 27-year-old actor answered: "Probably. I don't know. I don't really see the point in washing your hair...If you don't care if your hair's clean or not, then why would you wash it? It's like, I don't clean my apartment 'cause I don't care. I have my apartment for sleeping in and I have my hair for just, you know, hanging out on my head. I don't care if it's clean or not." Makes sense – NOT!

Kris feared Kim's birth would be overshadowed by Kate Middleton's. They were due the same day

KARDASHIAN MOM USING TOT TO BOOST HER NEW TALK SHOW

— reports

Kanye West was at Kim's side when she delivered their daughter

KRIS JENNER HITS JACKPOT

— as Kim baby is BORN EARLY

MONEY-MINDED Kris Jenner is delighted that her daughter Kim Kardashian delivered her baby early because she can now use the infant to help launch her new talk show, says a source. The promotional campaign for 57-year-old Kris' syndicated talk show, which debuts July 15, is already underway. "So to make sure she makes a big splash in the ratings, she needed this baby to be signed, sealed — and DELIVERED ASAP!" a family insider told The ENQUIRER.

Kim, 32, gave birth to her almost 5-pound baby daughter at about 1:30 a.m. on June 15, four weeks earlier than her July 11 due date. The blessed event took place in the $4,000-a-day luxury maternity suite at Los Angeles' Cedars-Sinai Medical Center.

Dad Kanye West, who canceled a promo event for his new album, was at her side, and grandma Kris was thrilled that the joyous event had occurred in plenty of time.

The birth was shrouded in a bit of mystery. At first, the E! Network announced on its website that Kim had a natural childbirth. But CNN and several other media outlets reported it as a C-section, and "Reality TV World" said the birth was medically induced — methods that would have allowed for adjusting the delivery date.

"Kris loves her kids but she also loves money, and the Kardashian clan are her most valued assets," noted the insider. "She can use the publicity to their advantage."

The source says matriarch Kris was also worried because she knew Kim was slated to deliver on the same day as British princess Kate Middleton, and she realized the newest Kardashian would be overshadowed by the royal baby.

And just 24 hours after the birth, Kris attended the Daytime Emmy Awards and reportedly dropped hints that her new granddaughter would make her TV debut on the "grand-momager's" new talk show.

"Kris is the brains behind the Kardashians' empire," said the insider. "The girls listen to their mother. She always gets what she wants."

SHATTERED MILEY'S

MILEY CYRUS has plunged into the depths of despair over the finality of her parents' divorce and her own love problems with fiancé Liam Hemsworth — and friends fear for her health.

"SHE'S A TOTAL MESS

and things are getting worse by the day," an insider told The ENQUIRER. "Miley is in a terrible state over the divorce, and that combined with her troubles with Liam has turned her into a wreck. She needs help, fast."

Meanwhile, friends say Miley, 20, and her 13-year-old sister Noah are siding with their mom Tish over their dad Billy Ray in the bitter divorce.

"Miley wants both parents to be happy but she is more supportive of her mother," revealed the insider. "Tish is always there for Billy Ray, but he was kind of a jerk and took her for granted over the years." Billy Ray filed for divorce from Tish in 2010 but months later dropped the action in hopes that they could fix their nearly 20-year marriage, which also produced son Braison, 19. But on June 13, Tish filed for divorce in California, citing irreconcilable differences.

"Billy Ray went about his life and basically disregarded Tish," said the source. "She got fed up and decided if she was going to be alone, she may as well make it legal."

CANCER DOC'S DEADLY CON

Dr. Christine Daniel was sentenced to 14 year in prison

She duped patients out of $1M with FAKE 'MIRACLE CURE'

TERMINAL cancer patient Jean McKinney thought her prayers had been answered when she found Dr. Christine Daniel and her magical miracle cure, but Jean's faith in the fraudulent physician ended up with the California woman's death and her heartbroken family bankrupt. And Jean was just one of 55 victims that Dr. Daniel duped out of more than $1 million.

"The scope of Daniel's fraud was breathtaking," declared Andre Birotte Jr., the U.S. Attorney for the Central District of California. "She robbed victims of more than money. She also stole their hopes and dreams for a cure."

DR. DANIEL PREYED ON PEOPLE like Jean, who was first diagnosed with colon cancer in 1998. Five years later, after undergoing surgery and chemo, doctors told her there was nothing more they could do.

That's when she and her husband of 47 years, George, a San Diego minister, heard about Dr. Daniel and her miracle cure – a cancer-killing concoction of "herbs" she said came from Africa and the rainforests of South America.

Jean McKinney – with her husband of 47 years, George – was just one of 55 victims that Dr. Daniel (below) fooled into thinking could be healed with a concoction of herbs

Dr. Daniel claimed the herbal remedy could beat even late-stage cancers like Jean's, but the price was steep: $100,000. Desperate to save his wife, George took out loans and borrowed money from friends.

Despite adhering to Dr. Daniel's regimen, Jean died in June 2004 at the age of 69. Not long after her death, George learned the horrifying truth – the "herbs" that Dr. Daniel had given his wife were nothing more than a mix of sunscreen preservatives, beef extract flavoring and drug store vitamins.

"IT WAS ALL A HOAX, a wicked, evil sham," George, 80, told The ENQUIRER. "She told us that in my wife's case, she had seen patients of this severity that had been cured."

George says he and Jean had no reason to suspect that Dr. Daniel was scamming them. The Nigerian-born physician had obtained a medical degree from the University of Michigan Medical School and had practiced medicine for 26 years. She ran a clinic, the Sunrise Wellness Center in Mission Hills, Calif., and was even an ordained minister!

"It was not as if she was a bogus doctor," said George. "I saw her medical degree. I saw her church ordination papers, and she was a member of a church of a friend. We had great faith in her."

Sadly, Jean was not the only victim of the duplicitous doctor, who on May 17 was sentenced to 14 years in prison and ordered to pay back the money she scammed. Dr. Daniel, 58, continues to maintain her innocence and plans to appeal.

But prosecutor Birotte said: "Daniel is responsible for a shockingly coldhearted fraud that has brought her a richly deserved federal prison sentence."

At right, Bob Tur before starting the transgender process. Far right, Bob after 31 days of hormone replacement therapy

Why Bob balked at telling 'Star Wars' beauty his dramatic news

CARRIE FISHER is standing by her former flame Bob Tur as he embarks on his new life as a woman.

In an exclusive ENQUIRER interview, the "Star Wars" actress joked that her relationship with the transgender award-winning news reporter/pilot might have worked out if she had known the truth about him.

"I ONLY DATED him for a few months," said Carrie, 56.

"Maybe if we'd dated longer, I would've been reassigned as a man and we'd still be together.

"Regardless, I sincerely wish her the best."

The ENQUIRER also spoke with Bob, 53, whose career as a helicopter pilot included covering such major news stories as the Los Angeles riots and the O.J. Simpson slow freeway chase. He is currently taking hormones as he begins the process of becoming a woman named Zoey.

Bob's story became public knowledge, he says, after someone read comments he'd made on his Facebook page. He had originally planned to tell still-friend Carrie first.

"I was afraid to tell her, not because she wouldn't be supportive, (I knew) she would be, 100 percent – it was because of me," Bob confessed. "I wanted it to be a private conversation with Carrie, face to face. Unfortunately, I just didn't get the opportunity to do it."

Carrie, who dated Bob in 2004, is certainly no stranger to alternative lifestyles. She also had a three-year relationship with talent agent Bryan Lourd and had a child with him – before he left her for a man in 1993!

MEANWHILE, BOB SAYS HE "came out" to help others in the same position know they're not alone.

IF Nicole Richie suffers a dangerous drug relapse, there will be one particular person to blame – her husband! Good Charlotte rocker Joel Madden was tossed out of an Australian hotel on June 9 after the mobby Aussie allegedly found a small amount of pot in his room, and experts warn that his careless behavior is putting his wife's hard-won sobriety in serious jeopardy.

"A spouse can lead their spouse back into addictive behavior," says Dr. Brian Shaw, drug abuse expert and author of "Addiction and Recovery for Dummies," who does not treat either Nicole or Joel.

Joel, who married the "Fashion Star" mentor in December 2010, admitted on Tumblr: "A hotel employee found a small bit of marijuana in my hotel room. The police were called and responded."

While Aussie authorities are not pursuing charges against the 34-year-old rocker, a spokesman from the hotel confirmed that he was "ejected from the property. In Australia, there is zero tolerance for this, no matter who you are."

As The ENQUIRER has reported extensively in the past, Nicole, 31, struggled with substance abuse problems for years. She has admitted to using alcohol at 13, cocaine at 14, and heroin when she was 19.

She's done stints in rehab and had run-ins with the law, including several arrests for DUI, driving with a revoked license and heroin possession.

Ironically, hubby Joel played a big part in helping her clean up her act, and the mother of two – daughter Harlow, 5, and son, Sparrow, 3 – has been sober for several years.

But now, an expert warns, his behavior is putting her in danger of a relapse. "We

★ Years of drinking diet soda excessively can ruin your teeth – causing as much damage as abusing crack cocaine, says an expert.

Dentist Mohamed A. Basiony compared the mouths of a methamphetamine addict and a crack cocaine addict to that of a person who drank two liters of diet soda every day for at least three years.

Surprisingly, he found the same type and severity of damage from tooth erosion in each person's mouth.

"The citric acid present in diet soda is known to have a high potential for causing tooth erosion," explained the Philadelphia-based professor of dentistry.

YOGA FIGHTS ALLERGIES

★ Allergy sufferers, breathe easy. A leading expert says regular yoga practice can reduce your symptoms.

Dr. Sara Gottfried, author of the best-seller "The Hormone Cure," suggests you try an easy-to-do yoga technique to relieve sinus symptoms.

Simply cover your right nostril and inhale through your left for a count of 10. Hold your breath for five seconds. Then cover your left nostril and exhale through your right for a count of 10. Switch sides, inhaling through your right nostril for 10 seconds and hold it for five before covering your right nostril and exhaling through the left for 10 seconds. Repeat three times.

FITNESS MADE EASY

★ It's easy to get in shape – even if you're a couch potato.

New research suggests that four minutes a day of vigorous activity three times a week is enough to improve fitness.

Norwegian researchers studied a group of inactive but otherwise healthy overweight men and found that a 10-week training session of the four-minute regimen yielded approximately the same benefits as a more vigorous routine – including lower blood pressure.

"The kind of improvement in physical fitness that we saw in this study may provide a real boost for inactive people who are struggling to find the motivation to exercise," says researcher Arnt Erik Tjonna of the Norwegian University of Science and Technology.

★ A new technique using a hand-held device to deliver electric impulses to certain nerves can reduce the symptoms of overactive bladder such as urinary frequency and urgency.

Researchers at Beaumont Health System in Royal Oak, Mich., channeled a mild electrical charge through a slim needle inserted into the ankle near the shinbone.

After 14 weeks of one treatment per month, 77 percent of study participants reported significant improvement in OAB symptoms.

"This study demonstrates that with ongoing therapy, patients with overactive bladder can have fewer symptoms and return to daily activity without disruption or embarrassment," says Dr. Kevin Peters.

Help FOR OVERACTIVE BLADDER

★ Older people with a common type of irregular heartbeat called atrial fibrillation are more likely to have problems sooner with memory and thinking.

In a massive seven-year collection of data on people ages 65 and older, experts found that those who over time developed atrial fibrillation were more likely to score lower on memory and thinking tests than those with a normal heartbeat.

"This means that heart health is an important factor related to brain health," notes researcher Evan L. Thacker of the University of Alabama at Birmingham.

GLOWED AS A LOVING MOTHER
ON WILLIAM'S CHRISTENING DAY!

As the Prince awaits the arrival of his own newborn child, this one-of-a-kind figurine captures the memory and regalness of his own baptism day cuddled in the arms of Princess Diana.

Since 1841, nearly every member of the Royal Family was baptized in a silk and ruffled lace Christening gown commissioned by Queen Victoria — including Princess Diana's first-born, His Royal Highness, Prince William.

Now, The Hamilton Collection takes you back to the Prince's 1982 Christening Day with an exclusive new Diana figurine not found anywhere else. "The Royal Christening of Prince William" is inspired by archival family photos of the new mother, Princess Diana, with her darling little prince.

A limited-edition collectible handcrafted and painted by hand.

Flashing her million-dollar smile, Princess Diana cradles her young son royally posed in the heirloom Christening gown. Every detail of this never-before-seen figurine is impeccably sculpted and painted by hand — from Diana's floral patterned dress with coordinating hat and shoes to William's gown. It's so beautifully recreated, you can almost see and feel all the ruffled lace over the smooth silky finish. There's even a genuine ribbon woven around his waist — just as there was on his Christening Day. What a loving tribute to the young prince who will soon be holding his own royal heir.

Don't miss out on this collecting opportunity!

This exclusive, one-of-a-kind figurine is strictly limited to only 95 casting days. Every issue is hand-numbered and arrives with a Certificate of Authenticity attesting to its limited status. ## CRYPTOGRAM QUOTES

FAMOUS QUOTES FROM YOUR FAVORITE PEOPLE

Cryptograms are coded messages. To solve the Cryptogram, each coded letter must be replaced by the answer letter in the box overhead. When you solve the code for a letter, write the answer letter in the box everywhere the coded letter appears. Look for common words and letter patterns to break the code. Words like AND, I, THE and A are found frequently. Common word endings are ING, S and E.

LEN FELDMAN'S BEST BETS ON TV

What's hot
this week

Switched at Birth

Monday, July 1, 8 p.m. ET, ABC Family

Tonight, Kathryn (Lea Thompson) has an encounter of the uncomfortable kind when her principles as a senator's wife are severely tested. Meanwhile, Daphne (Katie Leclerc) is getting mixed signals from Jace. Bay (Vanessa Marano) learns more about Mary Beth and Ty. Angelo (Gilles Marini) joins the country club and Regina (Constance Marie) starts a new job on an emotional episode of this socially relevant and envelope-pushing family series. D.W. Moffett, Lucas Grabeel and Sean Berdy also star.

Natalie Martinez
and Josh Carter

Under the Dome

Monday, July 1, 10 p.m. ET, CBS

If you haven't gotten into "Under the Dome," you are missing out on Stephen King's most addicting masterpiece of smalltown mystery and terror ever! In the premiere (June 24th at 10 p.m. ET), the small town of Chester's Mill was sealed off from the rest of the planet by a massive and impenetrable transparent dome. Planes and trucks crashed into it and were completely destroyed. Couples were separated, including Deputy Linda (Natalie Martinez), who's inside, and her firefighter fiance Rusty (Josh Carter), who's outside along with the entire fire department. That poses a problem tonight, as the residents unite to put out a house fire on their own in this surprise-packed episode.

Pretty Wicked Moms

Tuesday, July 2, 10 p.m. ET, Lifetime

It's "Moms Gone Wild" as mega-wealthy divorcee Marci invites the ladies to her sumptuous Miami summer home for a girls' week off. From boozing and booty shaking in their bikinis aboard the yacht of Marci's dad to eating sushi off a naked man at a kinky Japanese restaurant, Marci has the gals living the dream. Meanwhile, back home in Atlanta, the husbands get Mr. Mom duty, which includes taking the kids on a play date to a girls' spa. Startling secrets are revealed in Miami during a psychic reading at Marci's place. And tongues really loosen in between vodka shots during a game of truth or consequence as the ladies enjoy some much-deserved fun in the sun.

Moms go wild in
"Pretty Wicked Moms"

Perception

Tuesday, July 2, 10 p.m. ET, TNT

Ever wake up and think you don't know the person sleeping next to you? Dr. Daniel Pierce (Eric McCormack) and FBI Agent Kate Moretti (Rachael Leigh Cook) investigate the case of a woman who arose one morning convinced that her science-fiction author husband is an alien imposter. But when the husband is found dead, Pierce and Moretti must find the very human murderer. Meanwhile, Dr. Pierce, who's been off his meds for weeks, is seeing his imaginary girlfriend Natalie (Kelly Rowan) again as well as a teen sci-fi fan who helps him solve the case in this mind-blowing story about "alienation" in relationships.

Eric McCormack

"BACHELORETTE" contestant Ben Scott is a wanted man!

The other men vying for the affection of beauty Desiree Hartsock will be thrilled to learn that this season's resident weasel has a warrant out for his arrest in Texas – and he could be taken into custody if he's ever caught driving in the state. "All of the guys in the house hate Ben because of how aggressive he is," said an insider. "He steals Desiree away from other bachelors while they are in the middle of intimate conversations with her, and he acts like he is already a frontrunner ever since he got the season's first rose."

WHILE HE MAY BE

the man the other contestants love to hate, Ben, 23, first caught Desiree's eye when he exited the limo on the first episode with his 4-year-old son, Brody, in by Ben's son Brody. "Desiree was so taken by young Brody, she gave Ben the first impression rose," said the insider.

"But the other guys are going to be thrilled to find out that Ben is a wanted man!"

According to court documents uncovered by The ENQUIRER, Ben received a ticket for not wearing a seat belt in 2008. While that's not a big deal, he then blew off his court date! And that's a VERY big deal!

the county clerk in Collin County, Texas, confirmed that there's now an outstanding warrant for Ben's arrest – and if he's stopped while driving anywhere in Texas he could be placed under arrest.

"Ben blowing off a court date doesn't surprise me," added the insider. "He has an ego the size of Texas and thinks he's above even

"He needs to be taken down a notch, put in handcuffs and a mug shot he needs."

'BACHELORETTE' BOYS GONE BAD

Both Ben and Michael have had run-ins with the law

BOOZY MICHAEL BUSTED BY COPS

Mug shot HE'S HIDING FROM DESIREE

IF "Bachelorette" Desiree Hartsock wants to land a guy with a clean record, she should forget about Michael Tenerelli. The handsome plumbing contractor from Illinois was busted for underage drinking in 2002 when he was 20 years old.

He joins a growing "lineup" of bachelors – including Brandon Andreen and Bradley McKinzie – whose brushes with the law have been exposed by The ENQUIRER.

Michael's problems began when a police officer on routine patrol spotted him and some pals sitting in a parked SUV on the side of a road.

A 1.75 liter bottle of vodka and 12-pack of partially consumed beer were in plain view, according to a police report obtained by The ENQUIRER. Michael told the cop he hadn't been drinking and claimed the alcohol didn't belong to him. But he refused to take a portable Breathalyzer test.

Michael was then arrested and hauled off to the police station, where he clammed up.

But a female companion threw him under the bus – telling cops in a statement that Michael and one of his buddies put the alcohol into her vehicle.

He was charged with misdemeanor possession of alcohol by a minor and faced up to a year in jail.

But fortunately for Michael, he got a big break. After pleading guilty, he got off with a slap on the wrist – a $100 fine plus court costs and a year's probation.

Michael, known on the show as the guy who is most jealous of "bad boy" Ben Scott's relationship with bachelorette Desiree, is not the only bachelor on the show to have a checkered past.

The ENQUIRER previously revealed that Brandon Andreen was nabbed for making a bomb threat at a General Motors plant in 2005. And Bradley McKinzie was slapped with a restraining order in 2009 after allegedly beating up his girlfriend.

"Desiree has a bunch of guys with shady pasts to choose from," said an insider. "I feel sorry for her."

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

POWERBALL WINNER SHARES $590M JACKPOT

Gloria set a new record with her incredibly huge win

— WITH GAY SON & HIS LOVER

RECORD Powerball winner Gloria Mackenzie has picked out a million-dollar mansion to start a new life of luxury with her son Scott — and his gay lover!

The ENQUIRER has learned the odd threesome plan to start playing house together as early as next month, and it will be a giant step up for all three.

Great-grandmother Gloria, 84, will leave behind the tiny $400-a-month, spider-infested duplex in Zephyrhills, Fla., that she called home when she won the $590 million Powerball jackpot. Meanwhile, 57-year-old Scott and his lover Gerardo “Jerry” Cruz, 65, are moving out of their modest $85,000 house.

“The three of them will be living together,” confirmed Scott’s ex-wife, Ella Mackenzie, who remains close to him.

“SCOTT WANTED TO BE WITH HIS mom because he’s worried about how she’d cope on her own, and Jerry is moving in with them, too. They should be getting their new place by the end of the month.”

Scott, a retired warehouse worker, came out 10 years ago. He and Jerry, who is also retired from CSX Transportation, lived together quietly in Jacksonville.

“They lead a simple, quiet life,” says another friend. “Scott and Ella divorced because he’s gay.”

Adds neighbor Britney Ward: “Scott and his partner seem nice.”

Gloria gave their union her blessing, and took refuge in their home as news spread that she’d beaten astronomical odds of 175 million to 1 to become the biggest single lottery winner in U.S. history. But Scott’s home was too small for all three, according to his ex-wife.

After getting an after-tax check of $278 million for her winnings, Gloria and Scott moved into a luxury hotel in north Florida, while Jerry stayed in the house to look after their beloved pet dog.

“They’ve received a number of threatening phone calls, and they’ve been concerned about their safety,” added Ella. “After a gravelly-voiced man called to tell them they were in danger, their lawyers told them to go into hiding.”

Meanwhile, locals were eager for news about the ways Gloria would spend her newfound fortune, and rumors spread like wildfire.

Was it Gloria who picked up the $2,600 tab for 180 diners at Buddy Freddys restaurant in Plant City near her old home, and tipped five servers $50 apiece?

“Everyone got up and applauded and started hugging her,” said manager Stephanie Reaves. “In my 35 years in the restaurant industry I’ve never seen anything like it.”

The mysterious lady bountiful denied she was the Powerball queen. “But it sure looked like her,” said Stephanie.

Meanwhile, Gloria’s legitimate public purchases were much more modest. She and Scott bought a pair of sunglasses and a banana at Walmart. They also ate a quiet dinner at Joe’s Crab Shack with Jerry, paying $22.99 apiece for pots of steamed crabs.

And one day they drove to the Crazy Egg cafe, ate lunch — and asked for a doggy bag to take home!

LIFE IN THE # FAST LANE!

Drag racing pioneer is still
BURNING RUBBER AT AGE 81

Chris “Golden Greek” Karamesines has been lighting up the track for 61 years and was named No. 30 on the NHRA’s Greatest Drivers list

FOR Chris Karamesines, life is a drag – and he loves every minute of it.

At 81, the “Golden Greek,” as he’s known, is America’s oldest professional drag racer. He’s been doing it for 61 years and there’s no indication that Karamesines will be putting the brakes on his career anytime soon.

He kicked off this season’s schedule with the National Hot Rod Association at a March rally in Gainesville, Fla., where the dedicated dragster zipped along the track at 300 miles per hour with racers who could be his great-grandsons.

“YOU’VE GOT TO WANT to do it to keep doing it, and we’re in pretty good shape,” said Karamesines, who passes an NHRA physical every year with flying colors.

“I just keep working. I work every day on race cars and stuff I need to go down the road. I ride stationary bikes. That’s enough exercise. I also haven’t missed a year, and that makes a difference. If you’re out of it for too long,

“He’s really a legend in our sport. He’s always been a showman that might change your way of thinking.”

Losing certainly hasn’t changed his way of thinking. Karamesines has not racked up one win on the NHRA circuit.

But he’s usually one of the top finishers, and that hasn’t gone unnoticed.

In 2001, Karamesines was named No. 30 on the NHRA’s Greatest Drivers list, and he’s enshrined in both the International Drag Racing Hall of Fame and the Motorsports Hall of Fame.

Many of the sport’s fans are peeved that Karamesines was never honored as the first drag racer to break the 200 mile-per-hour mark. He did it in 1960, driving his souped-up Chrysler at a track in Alton, Ill.

Since the race wasn’t an official NHRA event, another driver, who didn’t top 200 miles-per-hour until 1964, is recognized as “the first.”

Karamesines is best known for his ability to keep his car going even after a mishap. In fact, he once won a 1962 non-NHRA race in California after drifting completely off the track before somehow getting back on course.

“He’s really a legend in our sport,” said Graham Light, senior vice president of racing operations for the NHRA.

“He’s seen the early days of hot-rodding at mom-and-pop tracks to the professionalism that it’s grown into today.

“He’s always been a showman, always been a fan favorite. The man’s just remarkable. I’ve watched him jump in and out of his car, and he can do it faster than three-quarters of the guys half his age.”

Karamesines said a yearly ritual with his wife Sandy gets the juices flowing for another season of speed.

They sit down in their Chicago home and she asks him: “Well...what do you think?”

Karamesines always gives her the same answer: “I don’t want to hang around with the old geezers.”

And for the “Golden Greek,” that means: “Start your engines!”
